NAVY PERSONAEL FIGHT

Line and Staff Corps Unreconciled to Each Other.

DISCORDANT RUMBLE HEARD

The Engineers Will Ask for Positive Rank, Control of Their Own Men, Increase in Number of Officers and the Rank of Rear Admiral for the Engineer-in-Chief.

The rumblings of approaching discord in ranks of the line and staff corps of the tavy over a personnel measure have already been noted in The Times, and there is little indication now that either side is any nearer a solution of the problem than The engineers claim that the line has no right to assert it may "not let them have positive rank," and point to the fact that the Secretary of the Navy and Congress are the deliberative parties which will deter-mine the question. The engineers have decided on their plan of policy, and will for-midably intrench themselves in a position which they say they will not abandon.

They will ask for positive rank, control of their own men in the engine room, an

the present methods of filing vacancies in the corps has been found to west to the serious disadvantage of the engineers, and at the present rate of appointments the lower grade will become aimost extinct in a few years. There are now twenty vacancies, and this number is being increased. SELECTION OF MEN.

to select men from colleges where engineering was taught and then to send them to Aning was taught and then to send them to Annapolis for six months' training in military duties, after which they would be eatered in competition with the naval engineer graduates for places existing in the corps. By adopting this policy be believes the corps can be strengthened and brought up to the full quota allowed by inw.

One of the most prominent engineer officers stationed in Washington had this to say regarding the efforts of the line officers to harmonize their differences and agree on some bill satisfactory to the majority.

"The action of the line officers in making the Meyer bill of the Fifty-third Congress the basis of their naval recommendations will precipitate a conflict that has been waged for the past forty years. When it is comembered that this projected bill provides for nearly 200 commanding officers for shoot thirty war vessels, it can be readily seen why the younger officers are so anxious to secure its passage. At this meeting there were three cheek of bureaus present, Commodore Matthews, head of the department of yards and docks, presting. It was too stormy and unraly a gathering ter him to manage, and, after reprintmeding the young men, he left the meeting, followed by nearly all of the older officers.

"It was not surprising that such men as Commodore Phythian and others, who hy reason of age, will not reach the admiral's grade, were enthusiantle advocater of a mensure which provided four timer as many admirals as there are major-generals in the arroy, although the enlisted force of the may is less than one-third that of the army.

SELECTING OUT PROCESS.

SELECTING OUT PROCESS.

"officers in the grades of captain, commander and lieutenant commander fully realize that, when the selecting out process terminates, there will be no telling who will be the victim of this injustice. The action of the board of admirals will not only be modified by the chief of the bureau of navigation, but also by the Secretary of the Navy, influential men in both houses of Congress and by the President of the United States. There will be service, religious, political, financial and social influences at work to keep individuals from being selected out, and when these several forces are arrayed against each other it would require a prophet to predict who will survive.

"The billierness displayed by the younger officers of the line in the meeting last Saturday evening has thoroughly aroused the bump, as the assemblage of older line officers is called. These men fully realize that no individual is safe from the attacks of the argressive younger officers. They

They will ask for positive rank, control of their own men in the eigine room, an increase in the number of officers, the rank of rear admiral to the eigineer in chief, the appointment of four cacet eigineers at large by the President, one by each Senator and the selection of a number of young men from scientific coleges, which are to compete with the naval engineers for commissions.

These schools are interested in the proposed plan for enlarging the commissioned force, and there are said to be many graduates who are anxious to effect the flavy as engineers.

The present methods of filling vacancies in the corps has been found to work to the

aughable Incident in Which an Old Desk and Two Women Figured. Not long ago there was a sale in Washington of the effects of the Historian Baucroft. One of the ladies in Washington, who is wedded to Washington ideals and associations, wanted a desk which had been the historian's, for the associations surrounding it. She is wealthy, and was setermined to have that desk if money

Intrasically it was worth very little, but that was no reason why she would not bid high on the desk. The day of the sale she was too ill to go, so she sent her sale size was too in to go, so see sent her daughter, with instructions to bring home the desk, and told her to bid as high as $100 for it. The daughter went early to the sale and secured a sent near the coveted desk and waited until it was put up for
